

re·sponse·a·bi·li·ty

noun, def:

1. Self-authorship.
2. Creative empowerment.
3. Conscious action, not unconscious re-action.

Why would I want to take responsibility? Radical self-trust.

Expansive thriving freedom. Victim mentality be-gone! Boundless, magical creativity.

It's definitely not passive, controlling, guilt, blame, martyrdom.

Shift into Response-ability anytime you like with these simple questions:

- Mmmm, what can I discover thanks to this?
- How am I contributing to this situation?
- What do I reallyreallyreally want here?
- Where might I see “choice” where I’ve never seen it before?
- How is this familiar?
- What in me is asking for love?

Are you up for the Response-ability Challenge?

- Are you willing to admit just how powerful you are?
- Are you willing to reclaim self-authorship where you haven't felt it before?
- Are you willing to take 100% response-ability for all aspects of your life?
- Are you willing to love yourself for every choice you've made?
- Are you willing to live your life full-out?
- Are you willing to see yourself as a source of everything (approval, creativity, enjoyment, etc.)? Another way to consider this is – are you willing to see yourself as an embodiment of the divine?

